Cynthia A. Stockman
Deputy Director
Directorate for Support

Ms. Stockman joined the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) in 1984 as a finance officer. During her 27-year career with the CIA, Ms. Stockman's assignments have spanned the resource management disciplines, with increasing complexity and responsibility, supporting multiple directorates within the CIA, at Headquarters and abroad.

Ms. Stockman is currently serving as Deputy Director for Support. Prior to her current assignment, Ms. Stockman served in senior leadership positions within the former Office of the CFO at CIA, to include Director, Office of Business Systems, where she managed the development, implementation and maintenance of the agency's financial, acquisitions, budget and travel systems. Most recently, she served as the Director of Corporate Businesses. Prior to these assignments, Ms. Stockman served as the Deputy Chief of forward-developed support platform, in Europe. Ms. Stockman holds a Bachelor of Science in Finance from Virginia Tech.