

INSS Staff Biography

Jennifer C. Veilleux
Assistant Editor

202-685-2263
veilleuxj@ndu.edu

Jennifer C. Veilleux is the Assistant Editor of Joint Force Quarterly and a Research Support Specialist for National Defense University Press.

Prior to joining the NDU team, Ms. Veilleux was a Renewable Energy and Energy Efficiency Consultant in New York City. From 2003–2004, she was a National Security Education Program/Boren Graduate Fellow in the Republic of Macedonia, during which time she was a Visiting Scholar at Central European University Environmental Sciences and Policy Department in Budapest and carried out research on International Watershed Management and Policy in the Lake Ohrid Watershed.

Ms. Veilleux volunteered with the United Nations Development Programme-led Prespa Park Project in Albania, Macedonia, and Greece during the summer of 2004. She also contributed to local environmental organization's English language literature and reports.

Ms. Veilleux was the Assistant to the Dean of the College of Arts & Sciences at the University of New Haven, and worked as an Assistant Editor on International Politics, a political science journal in 2002/2003. In 2004 Ms. Veilleux was an Editorial Intern at E/Environmental Magazine. She currently contributes to <http://www.eco-chick.com/> as a science and technology correspondent.

She has published in E/Environmental Magazine, and the Tamarak newspaper. She has given presentations at Central European University and the University of New Haven.

She holds an AA Magna Cum Laude in Liberal Arts from Naugatuck Valley Community College, a BS Magna Cum Laude in Environmental Science, and an MS in Environmental Science from University of New Haven.