CLINIC LOCATION

The Fort McNair U.S. Army Health Clinic is a hidden pearl of history nestled in the heart of the Military District of Washington. The clinic is located on the third oldest Army Installation and has provided healthcare services dating back to the Civil War Era. This building was named Walter Reed's Clinic and functioned as a General Hospital from 1889-1909. After the transition of WRNMMC to its new location, the building retained its clinical functions. In 1948 the clinic was renamed Fort McNair U.S. Army Health Clinic in honor of Lieutenant General Lesley J. McNair, Commander of Army Ground Forces during WWII, killed in action in 1944.
